Nebraska's First Recreational Trail

The nation's longest rail-to-trail conversion and Nebraska's first state recreational trail was accepted as a donation from the Rails to Trails Conservancy on December 5, 1994. Acceptance of the gift was authorized by law through the Nebraska Legislature under the provisions of federal railbanking statutes.

The historic Chicago and Northwestern Railroad right-of-way, now the Cowboy Recreation and Nature Trail, passes through spectacular Nebraska scenery as it travels from Norfolk west through the Elkhorn River Valley with its companion route U.S. Highway 275. Farmsteads, cropland, and timber-covered riverbanks dot the landscape.

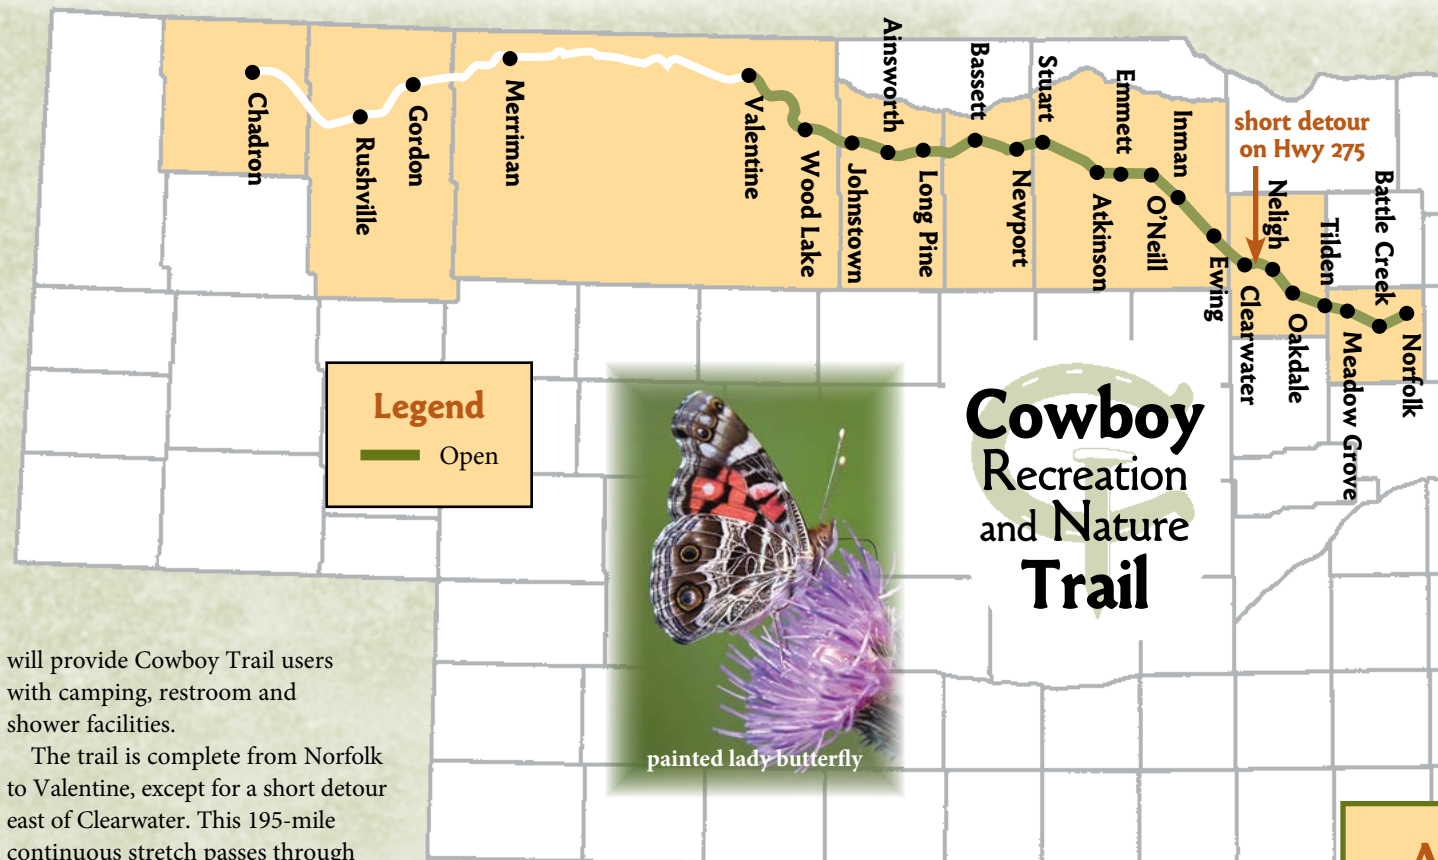

At O'Neill, a trailhead is provided at the Old Historic Railroad Depot, which is on the National Register of Historic Places. Parking, restrooms, water and trail information are available to the public.

West from O'Neill the trail parallels ranching, hay and native prairie along U.S. 20. At Long Pine, the trail enters Nebraska's unique and renowned Sandhills. Except for an oasis containing a quarter-mile-long bridge crossing the Niobrara River Valley at Valentine, one of the nation's top 10 canoeing rivers, these vast grass-covered dunes border the trail en route to the Pine Ridge country near Chadron.

When finished, this hiking, biking and equestrian trail will stretch 321 miles across Nebraska. The trail will pass over 221 bridges and through 29 communities nicely spaced about 10 to 15 miles apart. These communities will provide Cowboy Trail users with camping, restroom and shower facilities.

The trail is complete from Norfolk to Valentine, except for a short detour east of Clearwater. This 195-mile continuous stretch passes through 20 communities of varying sizes and offerings. Each stop has unique features that only rural America can offer. See old-time soda jerks, historic depots and one of the last drive-in movie theaters still in operation. The communities offer some of the best in cafes with that good old-home cooking that you just don't experience every day.

Camping is available in most community city parks at little or no charge. Visit the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission's website for a list of amenities in each community. The amenities listing will show you where to find food, lodging and supplies, as well as special events and festivals that take place during the summer months.

Always follow the creed of the trail user, leave only your tracks or footprints and respect the landowner's property.

Attention Bicyclists

Proper equipment is always a must. This trail is of crushed limestone and is generally quite hard when dry. It can become soft when rain has fallen within a 12-hour period. It may also become rough if some improper use has occurred. It is always best to use a mountain or hybrid bike. It is also suggested that these bikes have the burr-proof tires or the Teflon belts to prevent flats. They are inexpensive and easy to install. The Texas sandburs (goathead) or puncture vine may be present and unseen since they are so small. This burr is a problem in almost all states and can prevent you from enjoying a great day of riding.
